About Us

Fudo Automation was established in 2005 by the second Generation Engineers Mr.S.Praveen Kumar & Mrs.S.L. Poormina under the able guidance of Shri.S.Chandra Sekhara Rao whose experience in the field of Electricals is more than four decades. This blend of Innovative Technology with Experience makes it be the leading supplier of low voltage electrical switchboards for various applications. The company has achieved success over the years due to its strategy of being the "partner of choice" for its clients and the "employer of choice" for its people. Fudo clients include a wide cross-section of builders, contractors, direct End-users and it has delivered product into various parts of the country & globally. The company operates from two sites in the Hyderabad, called the Silicon City of Andhra Pradesh areas specialising in the manufacture of custom-built switchboards and modular switchboards.

FASPL has got good team from electrical apprentices and skilled tradesmen, to project engineers and supervisors, to management personnel thereby giving it the full spectrum of skills amongst its team members. The company prides itself on being a market leader in its approach to areas such as quality management and occupational health and safety.
